Business Social Software
Powering The Digital Enterprise

BusOps with Jeera

Jeera is business social software specifically designed to improve the quality and accelerate the delivery of your BusOps projects. Through leveraging a highly collaborative tool set it improves utilization, transparency and communication among teams, stakeholders and external partners.

Jeera incorporates a powerful mix of social working, project management and real-time communications that blend seamlessly to deliver unparalleled results maximizing the return on your business projects.

Put simply, better quality decisions and outcomes delivered faster.

Business projects today

When it comes to project deliverables, it is well documented that cost and time overruns are typical across all industries. From an operational point of view this is because:

- Planning within a changing environment is problematic
- It's a challenge aligning people and activities to achieve business goals
- Tracking progress and identifying bottlenecks takes too long to prevent delays
- Executives lack access to real-time analytics and so are unable to make effective interventions
- Off-plan risks are unseen until they have become issues
- Email communication between project stakeholders introduces latency
- Project boards make decisions, based upon reporting information already out of date

Leveraging technology for competitive advantage

With a rapidly changing technological landscape coupled with the increased competitive climate, organizations need to embrace new technologies that help to manage today's workstyles, content, communication and collaboration.

How can Jeera help me?

Designed for BusOps and to increase project delivery success, the Jeera SaaS environment offers a full set of tools to do everything required within a project and allows remote access to project services.

Jeera is a full stack solution giving you greater productivity and agility to boost team working performance.
With Jeera you are naturally empowered to:

▶ Lead and define the success factors

▶ Plan and share tasks with internal and external contributors

▶ Discover and harness organizational talent

▶ Dissolve silos through allowing teams to self-organize into project streams

▶ Align work activity with goals and strategy

▶ Direct purposeful communication

▶ Monitor progress and results accurately, and in real-time

▶ Know about off-plan events through multi-channel notifications

▶ Organize strategic information for easy access

▶ Create best practice templates to rapidly set up projects

▶ Preserve knowledge through a digital memory that can be recalled anytime

Your Virtual Assistant

Jeera's virtual assistant, JAI is there to help you understand the activities that matter, just as a project coordinator would do. JAI is fully automated, and collects key project information in real-time. So, no need to search for important information just ask JAI.

We would love to tell you more
